OPPOSITION TO LEADER STRONG

Glasgow Herald Concerned for British Prime Minister's Prospects in Old Constituency in Scotland

PREVIOUSLY LED LABOR BY THIRTEEN THOUSAND

Mr. Roslyn Mitchell, Labor, and Sir George Paish, Independent Liberal, Oppose Mr. Bonar Law Today

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Glasgow Herald regards with some concern Premier Bonar Law's prospects in his old constituency of Glasgow, where there is a considerable vote, and a Labor candidate, Mr. Roslyn Mitchell, also an Independent Liberal, with an enthusiastic following, Sir George Paish, the noted economist, who has vigorously advocated his free trade and reparations views.

Previous Majority
However, there was a difference of about 13,000 votes between Bonar Law and his Labor opponent in the last election, and this should give the Premier a margin even with two candidates against him, while his new dignity and prestige should be a valuable factor in his favor.

Most Are Safe
Most of the other members of the new government appear to be fairly safe. Sir John Baird, the new Commissioner of Works, who is a candidate in Ayr District, perhaps runs the biggest risk. He is opposed by a Liberal and a Laborite.
Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, despite, or because of the churlishness of the reception he was given last night at a meeting in Dundee, is considered safe for election in that constituency.
Rt. Hon. H. H. Asquith, the former Premier, is likely to be returned again for Paisley, and his chief lieutenant, Sir Donald Maclean, is being closely beset in Peebles and Southern Midlothian.

GERMANY LOOKS TO AMERICA FOR FOOD

REHABILITATION ESSENTIAL TO PURCHASE GRAIN

Supplies Are Necessary to Prevent Starvation—Must Be Prevented Financial Crash

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Germany must find some way of getting 100 billion marks' worth of grain to feed her people during the next year, the reparations commission learned in its investigation in Berlin.

As this amount is about double the present total of paper money in circulation in Germany, purchase of the grain is deemed impossible except through speedy financial rehabilitation of the country or food credit from abroad. It seems to be generally taken for granted that both the credits and the food would have to come from America.

Outlawy Breaks Out in Valparaiso—News of Disaster in New Towns and Villages Reported

SANTIAGO, Nov. 14.—Chile again was visited by earth shocks late last night. Severe tremors were felt at La Serena, capital of the Province of Coquimbo, at 11 o'clock, and half an hour earlier the airport of Constitución, capital of the Province of Maule, was shaken, according to advice received here by the National Telegraph.

Advice from Antofagasta, filed at 9:30 last night, said a strong earth shock had just been felt at Taltal, a seaport of several thousand population, only a few miles from Antofagasta.

Supplies for the stricken city of Valparaiso were sent in mule packs over roads gaping with fissures.

Outlawy Breaks Out
Outlawy broke out last night in the town of Valparaiso, the chief sufferer from the earthquake, where it is estimated 1,000 of the inhabitants perished, while reports of robberies and holdups came from other places. The arrival of war vessels at the northern ports of Chile brought wireless reports of disaster from towns and villages not previously heard from.

RESIGNATION OF GERMAN CABINET

Vote of United Socialists Not to Participate in Coalition Ministry Is Immediate Cause of Collapse

UNABLE TO HARMONIZE WITH PEOPLE'S PARTY

President Had Authorized Chancellor Wirth to Extend Coalition Ministry to Increase Government Prestige

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The cabinet of Chancellor Wirth resigned tonight, after the United Socialists had voted not to participate in a Coalition Ministry which included members of the German People's Party. Dr. Joseph Wirth has been chancellor of Germany since May 10, 1921, when he took head of the government on the resignation of Konstantin Fehrenbach. The Wirth cabinet tendered its resignation on October 22, 1921, but was reformed with a new personnel headed by Dr. Wirth two days later.

Troublesome Times
For some time Dr. Wirth faced troublesome times, owing to his ministry's programme with regard to reparations, the stabilization of the mark and the general economic and internal and external questions to which the opposition parties in the Reichstag objected.

A reorganization of the cabinet has been in contemplation for several weeks, but the stumbling block was encountered in obtaining a working agreement between the Socialists and the People's Party.

To Extend Coalition
President Ebert last Friday authorized the chancellor to enter into immediate negotiations with the leaders of the various parties in the Reichstag with a view to insuring steps for the early reorganization of the cabinet. The action of the president was in accordance with Dr. Wirth's desire to extend the basis of his Coalition ministry, with a view to increasing its parliamentary prestige.

PREDICT LADY ASTOR HEADS PLYMOUTH POLL

More Votes Than Her Opponents Combined, Is Forecast of Some British Election Prophets

PLYMOUTH, ENGL., Nov. 14.—Lady Astor's campaign manager today predicted she would be re-elected a member of Parliament for the Buton division of Plymouth tomorrow by a bigger majority than her last year's vote. Other election experts are confident she will win by a margin of thousands of votes and some predict that she will poll more than her opponents combined.

The favorite cry of her proponents is "Astor once again for Plymouth." The rival candidates insist they stand for liberty and freedom, referring to the woman member's stand on the prohibition question.

FAVORABLE TURN IN TURK CRISIS

British Commander Finds it Not Yet Necessary to Proclaim Military Law in Constantinople

ENGLISH SEEK NEWS ON FRANCE'S PEACE PLANS

British Foreign Secretary Informed France Will Fight if Kemalists Attack the Allied Troops Despite Agreement

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14.—Although the Near Eastern crisis has taken a distinctly favorable turn tonight with the news from Constantinople that the Lieut.-Gen. Sir Charles Harington thinks it is not yet necessary to proclaim military law, Anglo-French difficulties have not been settled. Whereas Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, is delighted with the implication in the French semi-official statement that the French will fight if the Kemalists attack the Allied troops in violation of the Mudanya agreement.

He sent Premier Poincare today a long and detailed questionnaire asking just what he will do at Lausanne. This seeks the French attitude on the Mudanya agreement, the protection of minorities, turning over Constantinople to the Turks, assuring the freedom of the Straits and capitulations.

No Binding Declaration
It is not believed here that M. Poincare, in view of his announced desire to go to the Lausanne conference with a free hand, will give a firm and binding declaration of policy.

EIGHT-HOUR WORKING DAY TO BE RETAINED

Unproductive Expenditure and Economy in Government Departments Among Promises Made in Note to Commission

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The German note to the reparations commission made public here today contends that final stabilization of the mark can only be possible after the reparations question has been definitely settled in accordance with Germany's capacity to pay.

Since Germany cannot await such a final settlement, she proposes a provisional one, but, even to achieve this, foreign assistance must be forthcoming. The Reichsbank is declared to be in readiness to place 600,000,000 gold marks at the disposal of the government for the purpose of stabilization.

Conditions Named

The project, it is set forth, depends upon the following conditions:
1. Germany must be freed for three or four years from all payments in cash or in kind under the treaty of Versailles, although she will continue to make deliveries in kind for the devastated areas so far as these do not entail any increase in her floating debt.

QUEBEC'S SURPLUS

FINANCIAL SITUATION NEVER EQUALLED IN DOMINION

Increase to Treasury Expected for Coming Year—$4,000,000 From Liquor Law Operation

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—A surplus of $5,033,419.45 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, and an estimated surplus of $4,000,000 for the year ending June 30, 1923, were announced by Hon. Jacob Nichol, the Quebec Provincial Treasurer, when he delivered his budget speech in the Assembly today.

The Treasurer stated that the ordinary revenue during the year ending June 30 last was $21,609,396.10, and the ordinary expenditure $16,576,976.65, thus leaving a surplus of $5,033,419.45.

Situation Unique

The financial situation in the province of Quebec, said the Provincial Treasurer, was unique in the annals of the province, and nothing like it had ever been equalled in any other province in the Dominion.

The Treasurer said he was only obliged to issue new debentures, but was even able to redeem bonds and stocks to the amount of $349,887.24.

The Treasurer gave an estimate of the revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, as follows: Ordinary revenues, 18,291,344.30; ordinary and extraordinary expenditure, 14,733,427.81. This leaves an estimated surplus of $3,557,916.49.

KEMALIST SOLDIERS FORCE CONVENT ENTRY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14.—Another disagreeable aspect to the general situation has arisen from reports from Bursa that two French soldiers of charity have been assaulted by Kemalists, who forced them into a convent. The French authorities here have vigorously protested to Rafet Pasha, the nationalist governor of Constantinople, demanding immediate expiation and assurance against a repetition of such assaults.

UNIONIST SUCCESS CERTAIN ON EVE OF ENGLISH ELECTION

Faces An Operation

Three Hundred and Twenty Conservative Seats in Next British Parliament Conceded at Headquarters of Mr. Lloyd George—New Premier in Hard Battle in Glasgow

MR. LLOYD GEORGE

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The final guns of the election campaign were fired tonight, and a heavy fog that enveloped London and the rest of Southern England in gloom for three days, persists tomorrow, it may overturn what looked like a sure majority for Bonar Law. For the Labor party will vote, fog or no fog, but the Conservatives may not show the same enthusiasm.

This is particularly dangerous, as most Tories have felt that success was assured. But late tonight the mists held up much wheel traffic, all trains were late, and the stations armed with mobs struggling to go home.

Concede 320 Seats

Mr. Lloyd George's own headquarters concede unofficially 320 Conservative seats in the next Parliament, but still believe the former Prime Minister will have between 50 and 100 devoted followers behind him, who with defections from the Conservatives will suffice to throw out the Bonar Law Government if it yields to reaction.

Bonar Law himself is having a hard fight in Glasgow, where George Paish has developed unexpected strength, and Scotland generally is doubtful ground. But the main strongholds of the Conservatives—London and home counties—seem likely to present serious ranks of Unionists.

Makes Telling Attack

Mr. Lloyd George made a very telling attack upon his opponents of both camps today when, at Bolton, he declared that both Mr. Walter Runciman and Mr. Herbert Asquith warmly favored anti-dumping tariffs when agreed to by the Allies in Paris, and presented them in the form of a resolution in the commons. PARIS, Nov. 14.—The events of the past few days, and the semi-official Temps, lead one to believe that foreigners are trying to isolate France through the breaking off of the Franco-British accord or renewal of war in the Orient with France dragged into it.

"But we will not be caught in that game," adds Le Temps, "France wishes peace."

Blamed Great Britain

The paper throws all the blame of the present situation on Great Britain. It reproduces the Foreign Office copy of Premier Poincare's authorization to General Foch, French High Commissioner at Constantinople, to declare a state of siege if he thought necessary, and asserts that it has been clearly proved that the message was delayed and that the British wireless at Malta would not transmit it.

SHOULD TRY TO LIVE ON UNEMPLOYED DOLE

English Labor Declares Some Parliaments' Ancestry Has No Record of Toil

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Robert Smillie, Laborite, speaking in Glasgow last night, referred to Lord Bunsenhead and Mr. Winston Churchill as having said Labor was unfit to govern the country. Mr. Churchill and his followers, probably right down through several generations, Mr. Smillie said, had been educated at the workers' expense.

Would Commit Suicide

"If you could prove to the workers," declared Smillie, "that Winston Churchill or anyone who belonged to him had ever misled his fingers through honest toil since William the Conqueror, he would commit suicide at the sight of it."

Lord Bunsenhead was of the same kidney, Mr. Smillie asserted. A few years ago, he continued, Lord Bunsenhead urged his friends to take an unconstitutional action against the government, but instead of being tried and sent to jail he was made Lord Chancellor, at 50, pounds a week drawn regularly from the pocket of the people who could scarcely make ends meet.

As for Mr. H. H. Asquith and Margaret (Mrs. Asquith), they "ought to try to live two weeks on the unemployment dole."

TO ERECT HUGE WIRELESS PLANT

Five Million Dollars Expenditure Is Planned by the Marconi Company on Systems Throughout Dominion

LARGEST STATION WILL BE CONSTRUCTED IN B.C.

Two Million Dollar Plant Near Vancouver for Continuous Wave Communication With Britain and Orient

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 14.—Application has been made to the Dominion Government by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, Ltd., for a licence to erect and operate in the vicinity of Vancouver, a continuous wave wireless telegraph station costing approximately $2,000,000 and capable of communicating direct with Great Britain, Australia and the Orient, according to an announcement made here today.

British Columbia Plant Largest
The Vancouver station is only one of a number to be erected by the Marconi Company in various parts of the Dominion. Others will be situated at Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, but the British Columbia plant will be much larger than the others. A total expenditure of $5,000,000 is to be made by the company in this new system of modern communication.

The plan, which is a development of the Empire "all red" wireless route, is to obviate the necessity of relaying messages via land lines to existing wireless sending stations and may eventually lead to active competition in cross country communications between wireless and ordinary telegraph companies.

If the necessary permission is granted from Ottawa, it is expected that work on the new station will commence shortly after January 1st. Several sites for the station are now under consideration, but local officials of the wireless company are not yet prepared to make any definite announcement as to the location.

The new station will be the largest on the American continent, if not in the world. It will have a daylight sending radius of 7,000 miles, and at night will be able to reach at least twice that distance. This will bring Vancouver into direct communication at night with every sufficiently powerful receiving station in the world.

LEAVES TWO WIVES AND ONE PROBLEM

LEE CHEONG, DEAD TWELVE YEARS, TROUBLES COURTS

Old-Time Local Chinaman Married Two Women, and Now Crown Says It Was Polygamy

Lee Cheong, a Chinese merchant of the city for many years, who died here in 1910, leaving to mourn him two wives and another in Canton, China, left behind him the knotty question as to whether under British law either of those wives could be recognized as wives at all. Both marriages were contracted in China under the sanction of a polygamous custom.

The question was asked of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, in Chambers yesterday, twelve years after Lee Cheong had rested in his earthly care to the keeping of his heirs, executors and assigns, and, incidentally, to the law officers of the British Crown.

Mr. A. P. Luxton, K. C., asked the question in behalf of the twinned Lee Cheong. Mr. Luxton informed the judge that Lee Cheong had devised to his wives and children an estate in real property valued at $50,000, of which the share of the wives was an income of $1,000 a year each. Lee Cheong, the judge was informed, was a well-known importer of opium and other Chinese goods, and did business for many years on Government Street, in the nation store where Corman and Figgis Street were together.

Mr. Luxton explained that the present difficulty was occasioned by the claim of the Crown to tax the succession duty on the estate at the rate of ten per cent, on the theory that the widow had never been a wife under British law, and must be taxed as a stranger to the blood of the deceased. Counsel, on the other hand, submitted that British law must recognize the validity of the Chinese marriage, and tax the widow's portion at the usual rate of one and half per cent. In the alternative, Mr. Luxton asked that any rate clear that the first wife of the two must be recognized as lawfully wedded to Cheong.

If the Crown could say that neither of these wives—legally wedded according to the customs of China—were wives under British law, argued Mr. Luxton, then the children by those marriages would be illegitimate. Counsel doubted if the law would sanction such a logical consequence of this doctrine. Mr. Luxton thought that British residents of China would be considerably astonished if they found their children made illegitimate by some enactment of Chinese law. That was precisely analogous to the situation that would obtain if the present contention of the Crown were upheld by the courts.

Mr. Luxton admitted that the entire question depended upon the domestic law of the husband. The domicile of Lee Cheong, counsel argued, was China. Mr. W. D. Carter, K. C., Deputy Attorney-General, who appeared for the Crown, said that the Chinese domicile of Cheong was not disputed.

Monogamy Defined
Mr. Carter said that British law on the issue was clear. It was that a legal marriage must be the voluntary union of one man and one woman to the exclusion of all others. English law recognized the validity of a marriage contracted in polygamous countries under the sections of polygamous custom, only where such marriages were indubitably monogamous, and had been proclaimed as such.

This was not with the Crown a question of succession said Mr. Carter, but it was one of the taxation of death duties. The Crown contended that these marriages, contracted in Canton, were polygamous, had always been polygamous, and therefore such marriages were indubitably monogamous, and had been proclaimed as such.

The learned judge said that there was little doubt that the first wife in such a case must be recognized as a legal wife under British law. Judgment on the application was reserved.

WOUNDED VETERAN WANDERS FROM HOME

Ex-Soldier's Wife Appeals to Press for Help in Finding Missing Port Hammond Man

In great distress of mind owing to the disappearance of her wounded soldier husband, Eldon Lyle Hearn, from his home at Port Hammond, Mrs. Sarah Hearn, present address 1167 Thirteenth Avenue East, Vancouver, is appealing to the newspapers of the Province for help in her task of finding him.

The case of her husband, as given to The Colonist by Mrs. Hearn, is a peculiarly hard one. This is the third time he has wandered away from home since his return from war service overseas, in which he was wounded. He has now been missing since October 2 last. When he disappeared in a similar way twelve months ago, he was found after a few days in this city.

Mrs. Hearn has been promised by Rev. Major C. C. Owen and Dr. Pringle, of Vancouver, that her husband shall be admitted for treatment in a Vancouver hospital as soon as he has been located; his disappearance being entirely referable to a condition brought about by wounds received on active service. He served in the 47th and 72nd Battalions, C.E.F.

The description of the missing man is as follows: Eldon Lyle Hearn, height, 5 feet 11½ inches; hair, brown; eyes, blue-gray; wounded in right leg; faint tattoo marks on arms. Any information will be received either by Mrs. Hearn or by the local police authorities.

KETCHUM BLUE JAY ONLY, SAYS AH YUNG

Chinaman Tells Judge He Was Wrongly Convicted of Setting Trap to Snare Game Birds

The story of a Spanish bird-trap, which all parties agreed had caught at least one blue jay, and which the district game warden suspected had also caught pheasant and quail, was told to Judge Lammiman, in the County Court yesterday, when Ah Yung appealed from the fine of $20 imposed upon him in the Provincial Police Court on conviction of setting a trap for game birds, on the farm of Mr. John R. Green, near Elk Lake.

Mr. Green told the court that he had himself set the trap for blue jays, which were very troublesome on the place. The trap was not meant for game birds at all, nor had any game birds been taken in it.

"Mist. Green, he ninkum trap," said Ah Yung to an interested court. "He put him trap there. Too much blue jay. Ketchum one blue jay. Little girl set him blue jay go again. No ketchum pheasant, no ketchum quail. Policemen, he come. Long time I no tellum name. No like name in policeman's book. Then I say name Ah Yung, he Ah Yung."

Thus Ah Yung, in vindication of his own rectitude, in sweeping denial of Game Warden Jones' imputation that the trap was set to catch game birds, the game warden had seen a trail of corn leading to the trap. The trap was in the garden, within fifty feet of the house, said the witness.

He had seen a cat walking round the trap, and had seen game birds' feathers within the trap. Ah Yung had said, according to the game warden, that pheasants and quail caught in the trap had been released.

Mr. W. J. Taylor, K. C., who appeared for the appellant, said that the learned judge should view the scene of these alleged illicit trapping operations. The learned judge was of opinion that the weather was not inviting of unnecessary judicial views of the damp country side. Besides, the learned judge did not think there was enough evidence to warrant the conviction, anyway. But judgment would be reserved on the question as to whether the appeal had been properly brought before the court.

A doubt arising as to the proper making of a necessary affidavit, Mr. A. D. Macfarlane appeared for the Crown.

FRENCH BUSINESS IS THREATENED BY TURKS

Ruin Will Follow Continuation of Policy in Constantinople—Consulate in Asia Minor Expelled

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14.—The French consul at Merzina and Adana, in Asia Minor, have been expelled by the Kemalists. They arrived here Monday. They were appointed under the Bouillon pact to insure protection of Christian minorities.

The French consul at Brusa was expelled a week ago, but another consular official is returning to that city accompanied by Turkish nationalist officer to superintend the removal of thirty French residents.

Draft Memorial
A number of leading French merchants in Constantinople met at the French Embassy Sunday and drafted a strong memorial to their government, declaring that French economic interests are threatened with ruin by the Turkish policy to continue their present policy unchecked.

From Kharput come reports that the Kemalists are calling all men liable to military service and sending them to Mosul.

IMMIGRANTS SHOULD SHOW SELF-RELIANCE

Minister of Lands Tells Kivansians There Should Be Less Dependence on Government

Immigrants should be made to show self-reliance and not be nurtured too extensively by government, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, told the Kivans Club at a course of addresses upon the subject of immigration.

Speaking not only of newcomers to the Province, but also of those already here, the minister declared: "We have got to get back to first principles and insist that individuals do more and not expect so much from governments."

Mr. Pattullo contended that it was not right to put a load of debt around the necks of immigrants in order to give them a start in British Columbia.

A couple of years ago, said the speaker, one dared hardly suggest the immigration policy of any kind, but now there was a definite body of public opinion in favor of bringing in new settlers. Some people had contended that there was no sense in increasing the population of the Province while there was unemployment and the industries were in a depressed condition. This was a very superficial argument, Canada could absorb at least 200,000 people each year.

A Broad Policy
"I believe we should admit every healthy-minded, healthy-bodied person of white extraction," said the minister. Common sense would, of course, have to be used in regard to such a policy. He would not, for example, suggest that all the immigrants should be unfamiliar with conditions in Canada. An effort should be made to have a preponderance of newcomers of Anglo-Saxon origin.

The bringing in of 200,000 immigrants each year would employ many people, said Mr. Pattullo. If Canada had access to a market of that many individuals off its coasts it would be greatly gratified. How much better would that market be if actually in Canada, with the 200,000 at work? More employment would be provided.

Having satisfied themselves that immigration was a good thing, the next step for Canadians was to ascertain the best policy to pursue in regard to it, said the speaker. There was a well defined body of opinion in favor of a large proportion of newcomers being Anglo-Saxons, in order that British ideals and traditions might be maintained. But he believed in a cosmopolitan citizenship, also.

Mr. Pattullo had been surprised at the apathy shown in Eastern Canada in connection with the subject of immigration. British Columbia had played no small part in welcoming other parts of the Dominion, and also, to a small extent, the Old Country, in regard to this matter.

Should Come Young
Some objected to bringing out Englishmen to British Columbia, contending that they could not make a living here when they arrived. There had been those among the admirals of Old Countrymen who had come in the past who had arrived too late in life to be assimilated, and perhaps, too, Canadians had misunderstood them. It was advisable to get young out here while young, as they would then learn Canadian ways easier, and their children would grow up to look upon Canada as their home.

Mr. Pattullo pointed out the steps which the Old Country had taken in regard to Dominion immigration, and said that the Federal Government was now working out a policy. The British Columbia Government already had laws on the statute books which could enable it to proceed immediately to the Canadian Government had stated the extent to which it was willing to go.

Sought Pulp Investment
Stating that the establishment of industries in British Columbia should be given encouragement, the minister said that while in the Old Country he had taken up the question of the development of water power and the pulp and paper industry. He did not believe that there would be a general investment of British capital in Canada for some time to come, and pointed out that the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway had been thought by some to be more an excuse than a reason for the withholding of Old Country money, he believed that that attitude had an influence. There were, however, responsible firms of the United Kingdom investigating in the Province at the present time.

The people of British Columbia should use their initiative in finding employment and in developing the Province, said the minister, making the most of the Government assistance and more self-reliance.

Other Speakers
Major B. O'Neil, in charge of the Red Cross workshop, was present at the luncheon, and made a plea for support for that institution, pointing out the work which it was doing for the disabled ex-service men. The members were asked to sign cards pledging "a job a year" to the workshop.

Mr. J. M. Graham made an appeal for support for the Community Chest financial drive now in progress.

Kivans Carl Stocker reported that the first minstrel show rehearsal had been held on Monday night and the next would take place next Monday night.

These measures, it is declared, will enable Germany to balance her budget, check the increase in her floating debt and discontinue discounting treasury bills with the Reichsbank.

Germany, moreover, states that she will abolish all dispensable departments, reduce the number of officials, avoid unproductive expenditure and reorganize the government enterprise on a productive basis.

Germany will take all requisite measures to increase production while retaining the eight-hour day and will restrict

In order to execute the foregoing plans Germany proposes:

1. Final settlement upon the amount of Germany's obligations at the earliest possible moment so that these obligations together with the liquidation of loans, can be met from the budget surplus.

2. Freedom from payments in cash or in kind under the Versailles treaty with the reservations previously mentioned.

3. Convocation of a conference of international financiers with regard to bank credit to be accorded to Germany and

Adoption of the suggestions of the German Government regarding equal economic rights for Germany.

KEEN CONTEST ASSURED OVER CHIROPRACTORS

The fight between the medical profession and the chiropractors is warming up, and active delegations representative of both sides are on hand at the Legislative Buildings lobbying members and laying plans for the fight which will come in the Private Bills Committee on the long drawn out differences as to just how far the chiropractors are to be recognized by the profession and the terms upon which they will be allowed to carry on their work.

In view of the recent happenings in the way of prosecutions against the chiropractors there is undoubtedly a growing sympathy with the efforts of the latter to secure greater recognition; on the other hand the lobby on behalf of the doctors and physicians is finding support, and the contest between the two forces promises to be keen.

There will also be a fight on the Optometry Act, a bill to amend which will be brought down. It is claimed this measure proposes to give the present council under the act powers which would practically give the council powers of a closed corporation.

MUNICIPALITIES PLEAD FOR AID

Executive Committee of U.B.M. Presents Picture of Desperate Financial Position to Committee of Legislature

HOUSE URGED TO TAKE ACTION IMMEDIATELY

School Taxation Presses Very Heavily, It Is Stated, and Province Asked to Assume Responsibility

In an effort to enlist sympathy with their plea—one which for the past two sessions has been presented but so far has not been fully met—that unless some action be taken by the Legislature to help the municipalities out of their present financial difficulties, the executive committee of the Union of B. C. Municipalities waited upon the Municipal Committee of the House yesterday morning. The committee met the Executive Council on Saturday and announced they had been most cordially received, but it had been pointed out to them that the Government was in no position to do anything and that the members of the Legislature must be convinced of their position. In other words, the executive committee to consider and devise means.

The Municipal Committee had before it the suggestions which the U. B. C. adopted at its recent convention and on Saturday presented to the cabinet. These were as follows:

1. That the present duties and services allocated to the municipalities by the Legislature cannot be carried on without placing such a taxation upon land and the improvement thereon as to lead to confiscation of the property of the ratepayers;
2. That the Legislature be asked to take over the whole cost of education, dealing directly with the various boards of school trustees, or in the alternative;

Tax on Income

3. Remove the incidence of taxation for school purposes from land to income and provide at the present season for the levying of a sufficient tax upon the income of every person and corporation within the Province to cover the cost of maintaining and operating all of the public schools and high schools of the Province.

Opposition was also expressed to the proposed one mill levy for school purposes.

Mr. F. A. McDiarmid, solicitor for the Union, outlined the plight of the municipalities, stating it was no new problem. The average municipality today, he stated, is raising one-third of all it can to pay for necessary services; another one-third is being paid to maintain the schools, and the balance of outlays force it to create deficits, which, every few years, must be met by a bond issue.

"Outside the Minister of Education has succeeded in convincing the cabinet that the situation cannot continue," said Mr. McDiarmid, who admitted it was not much a matter of per capita cost increase or that the municipalities quarrelled with the per capita principle, but that the character of the population has changed. Ten years ago the population was mostly young people; today the school population is two-thirds half times what it was in 1912 and the amount to be raised for school purposes similarly increased.

Land Values Fall

Mr. McDiarmid emphasized the fact that the only source the municipalities have for revenue purposes was land values, but the value for assessment purposes is not there today as it was in 1912. It would be recognized, he stated, that the land and improvement taxes cannot be increased.

"We have been asked to formulate some form of new revenues; we have pressed for taxation on everything out of doors," said Mr. McDiarmid.

Diarmid. "Some of our schemes, perhaps, were not good; those that were good were taken by the Minister of Finance for his own use. We were granted the adjustment tax, but the municipalities decided they could not take advantage of it as it would put that type of business out of commission. The only place we have not struck—we are not a political body—is to use our arguments for political purposes. We have never said yet that the Government should save money. Our assumption has always been that the Government has been operating unsoundly. But we do say we have arrived at an impasse."

Mr. Patterson: "In what position are the other provinces?"

Mr. McDiarmid pointed to the fact that in every other province there are sources of municipal taxation other than that of land.

"All over the North American continent the municipalities are infinitely better off. In St. Paul, for instance, they have a tax on money and credits, and if a man has a bank credit of $100,000 he is taxed," said Mr. McDiarmid, who held that the land tax would take care of the municipal issues, but that education was a provincial matter, and he held an income tax could be fairly levied and that form of tax was properly the one upon which education should be based. He thought it could be arranged to have the regulations of the school boards go direct to the Provincial Government rather than, as at present, to the city councils, the machinery already existing for the purpose.

Enormous Burdens

Mr. McDiarmid stated that the municipalities at present need about four millions. He suggested a come tax of one-quarter of one per cent, though he admitted he did not think alone would produce that amount. The municipalities had increased their receipts from $5,692,000 in 1914 to over fourteen millions in 1920, and to twenty-one millions in 1922, all off the land, and are still not catching up. The Minister of Finance, with his superior knowledge of conditions, was convinced the municipalities could not carry on, said the speaker.

"There are two things that really bother us," stated Mr. F. A. McDiarmid, "education and hospitals, and even in regard to the latter we are only indirectly responsible, although we do have to see that the issue is the schools."

Appeal to Legislature

Mayor McHardy, of Nelson, explained that the reason the Union had never brought this particular matter before the municipal committee in past years was that they had regarded it as a problem for the Government. Last year the Government had called a special session to deal with it, but a resolution had not been forthcoming. This year the Government had said that they were cheerfully behind the demands of the municipalities, but frankly admitted they could not put through the House the solution asked.

Reeve Watson, of Saanich, gave an instance of how the school tax was a burden on the land. In 1914, he said, the school tax in Saanich had been $1.80 on $1,000; in 1921, he said, as a matter of fact the actual amount expended on school maintenance was $10.70, which would have had to be collected from the ratepayers for the fact that an unexpected heavy cancellation of tax arrears had been made that year. "No farm land can stand that tax," he declared. "It must come to an end some day."

Mayor Marchant expressed the fear that if the solution asked were on another year of expenditure. The borrowing power had been the ruin of many municipalities in the past, and he urged that if the new taxation was imposed on the Government limit strictly all borrowing powers of the municipalities, even including local improvements, which, he said, had proved a liability on the whole municipality in Victoria, at least.

Tax Sales Futile

"South Vancouver is as good a municipality as any," stated Commissioner Gray. "The people are coming in there in large numbers and our school population has practically doubled in the past seven or eight years. The trouble is that the more a man comes into a municipality, the more he becomes a burden, which is just the opposite to what it should be. We used to say, 'Let us get the people in here to help distribute the burden.' It has come now to such a pass that the municipalities will soon own all vacant property. The only tax sale property that we can dispose of is to the man who intends building. The municipalities, no council, commission or government can rescue South Vancouver with its fifty-five mill rate unless it reduces the land of the burden of school taxes. The only way that is done South Vancouver is as good as any municipality."

Mayor Johnston, of New Westminster, stated that the municipalities were curtailing other expenditures to the point of neglecting important public works.

"We can put on more taxes, perhaps," he said, "but with the land coming back on our hands at the rate it is, what will happen when the taxes are increased?"

In conclusion, Mayor McHardy reminded the committee that the Union of Municipalities represented ninety per cent of the people of British Columbia, and all that was asked was that the members of the House get together, forget politics and they could soon solve the difficulty.

Vancouver Delegation Seeks One Hundred Thousand for New Home for Neglected Children

Government assistance for the establishment of a new home for neglected children in Vancouver was made to the Executive Council yesterday morning by a delegation, composed of Rev. A. H. Soverign, Dr. A. F. Proctor, J. F. Malkin, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bagley. It was explained that there are 163 children crowded into an inadequate structure, a fire trap, and conditions were pitiful.

The spokesmen asked the Government to contribute $100,000, one-half of the cost of a new home. The cottage plan of buildings was suggested, five cottages costing $20,000 each, and an administration building costing $20,000. The delegation stated that the Children's Aid would guarantee to raise $100,000.

"The state owes a duty to the neglected children," said Rev. Mr. Soverign, who also said that the Government should appoint a new superintendent to devote his entire attention to neglected children, as the present acting-superintendent, Mr.

HOUSE FLOUNDERS ON VEXED QUESTION

ORIENTAL IMMIGRATION RE-SULTS IN MANY MOTIONS

Attorney-General Manson Appeals for Unity—Opposition Charges Delay
in Forwarding Resolution

The Oriental problem held first place in the legislature yesterday afternoon when the debate on the motion presented by Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, calling upon the House to address the Dominion Government asking for an amendment to the Immigration Act to permit the total exclusion of Orientals, was continued.

Hon. A. M. Manson, in seconding the resolution presented by his colleague, delivered what, at times, amounted to a scolding, and appealed to the white race of this country to stand together to oust the Oriental. He favored exclusion, but he pointed out that there was a subsidiary problem, the Oriental who is residing in the Province and who has been steadily increasing in number. He accentuated his belief in the importance of the Oriental assimilation with the whites. He was convinced that with the employers in industry giving employment to whites only and such legislation as would permit of dealing with the land question, the gradual diminution of the Orientals would result.

Independent members took part in the debate when an amendment was introduced by Mr. Kenneth Duncan, Independent member for Cowichan, and seconded by Major Burde, Independent member for Alberni, practically accepting the amendment presented last week by Mr. Bower, but eliminating that portion which calls for any legislation being passed by the Dominion first receiving approval of the Province. Mr. Duncan on Monday stated he would be willing to accept Mr. Bower's amendment but for that particular portion which he is now seeking to strike out.

Major Burde will continue the debate today, speaking to the Duncan amendment.

Praises Mr. Sloan

Expressing his pleasure at seconding the resolution moved by Hon. William Sloan, Mr. Manson said that more than any other man in public life of the Province has taken a more persistent interest in the solution of "this menace." Hon. Mr. Manson admitted that it was primarily for the Dominion authorities, but the trouble had been that with the seat of government so far removed from this Coast, one could not be surprised that there was not that appreciation of the acuteness of the situation as was necessary at Ottawa. In that regard he considered the situation had been well put by the Federal member for Fraser Valley, Mr. Elgin Munro, in his suggested amendment to the resolution before the Dominion House at the last session, that "every Oriental landing upon our shores should be shipped in bond to the province of Ontario."

"I take it that he suggested because he wanted to bring our fellow citizens in the Eastern provinces to a real appreciation of what the problem is to us who have to live with it," said the Attorney-General. "It has been said it is a very delicate question and one appreciates that it is because it involves our relations with one of the Empire's allies, Japan, but it would seem to me that the time has come when in the words of Mr. Fred Stord, Federal member for Skeena, 'British Columbia is not prepared to sacrifice herself on the altar of Imperial relations,' nor do I think it is necessary that we should do so, because I am by no means convinced that the situation cannot be amicably adjusted with the nations involved."

No Quarrel

At the outset, asked Hon. Mr. Manson, the people of this Province have no quarrel with the Orientals as such. Everyone would appreciate the qualities of thrift, steadiness, energy and ability for hard work of the Japanese and while, perhaps, one could not have the same admiration for the class of Chinese who have come to British Columbia, still they, too, were at least hard workers.

Holding that the standard of living of the Oriental is not that of the white race, being very much lower, though admitting that in the process of time the Oriental would rise in his standard even as had the white race, the Attorney-General said the objection to the Oriental could not be truly founded on that aspect of the matter.

"I object to his standard of living which makes it possible for him to live and work for less and enter into competition with our own white labor, and yet the white race has reached the point where there are certain classes of labor it is unwilling to perform. Our progress in the social scale has induced us to desire that we shall all work with our hands, and it is a most difficult problem for industry to find white men who are willing to do the work of men who are unwilling to do it. The fact that we are all agreed, arises out of hard work and sacrifice for ourselves, our families and our fellow citizens, is out of the clouds that we enjoy the sunshine, and it is out of hard work that we enjoy the comfort and happiness of repose."

But the real objection to the Oriental and the one that was permanent and incurable, Hon. Mr. Manson believed, was the ethnological difference between the white and the Oriental races.

"As a Christian people we should believe that 'man to man the world over' should be brothers," but it was hard for him to believe that the Divine arrangement of things intended that the blood of the Oriental and the white should mix. These bloods, he declared, simply would not assimilate except by a very slow process extending over centuries.

Protect the Whites

"It is a matter of our own domestic affairs that we should endeavor to protect the white race from the necessity of intermingling with Oriental blood, and I think we have every warrant for fighting in the most strenuous fashion to prevent a situation that will inevitably result in the deterioration of our own race," declared the Attorney-General, who held that if this argument were right, then he was correct in taking up the subsidiary argument arising out of the lower standard of living of the Oriental and the unfair competition of his labor. But to continue the international economic struggle in this dustry it was imperative that labor be found to supplant the Oriental, and if industry would refrain from being too grasping after wealth and provide for its workers an adequate wage and working conditions, it would be able to secure a sufficient supply of white labor.

Mr. Manson quoted statistics culled from the reports of the Department of Labor to illustrate the remarkable increase of Oriental labor in the industries of the Province. In the employment of 2,275 industrial firms reporting (and all industries did not report), there were 5,631 Chinese, 2,244 Japanese and 714 Hindus and seventy Japanese women. Seven and one-half per cent of the industrial workers in the logging industry were Asiatic; 41 per cent in the lumber dealing industry; 38 per cent in the sawmills; 84 per cent in the shingle mills; 16 per cent in the baking industry; 38 per cent in the fish canning industry; a like percentage in fruit canning; 15 per cent in coal mining, and 87 per cent in the pulp and paper industry.

Major Burde, understanding Mr. Speaker, that it is against the rules of this House that speeches should be read, if so, I move the minister's speech be taken as read; it will all be in the paper this afternoon, I suppose.

Attorney-General Manson, smiling, remarked that in quoting statistics it was advisable to have notes.

Oriental Increase

Proceeding with his statistics, the Attorney-General stated that in 1920 out of a total of 2,334 trades licenses issued in Victoria, 238 went to Orientals; that in 1921 Chinese held in the city of Victoria land, including improvements, totalling $1,817,840; Japanese, $20,340, and Hindus, $45,450. In the Saanich district last year land held in fee by Orientals totalled 493 acres. Similar conditions existed elsewhere, he said, notably in the Ashcroft section where five Chinese landholders owned 2,500 acres of irrigated land in one block and fifteen Chinese leased an additional 1,800 acres. In the Fraser Valley, 4,000 acres of fruit land are owned and 400 acres leased by Japanese. The Chinese, he stated, produced 55 per cent of the potato crop, and he held that the Ashcroft potato, which had held the highest rank in its class, had deteriorated under the cultivation of the Oriental, a circumstance which he cited as an argument of the deleterious results of Oriental presence in this Province.

Chinese immigration, the minister pointed out, decreased from 3,435 in 1920-1, to 1,746 in the year ended March 31, 1922, and Japanese immigration decreased in the same period from 532 to 471, and only fifteen Hindus were admitted, but because there had been some decrease in immigration, it was not to be assumed for a moment that the menace was growing less, for there had been a substantial natural increase, particularly in the case of the Japanese, during recent years, "and for the latter fact, to my mind, it would seem to me that it is necessary that we should do more than exclude the Oriental from entering into our country; we should adopt some policy that will compel those here to leave our shores."

One Good Result

"So if the Japanese or Chinese has extended his activities in our Province, it at least has not been without good result, because it has enlisted the whole of the white population of the Province, or nearly so, to endeavor to cope with the menace in some successful way," said Hon. Mr. Manson, who cited the case of two similar industries, in the same district, one employing Orientals; the other white labor, and both competing for markets. He made an appeal for industries to employ the disabled veterans and the unemployed whites, declaring that were that policy followed the unemployment problem would be practically solved.

One of the great factors in the hold which the Oriental had secured in the life of the Province was carelessness, he claimed; carelessness on the part of employers and on the part of the public, and he only regretted that the Government could not insist that anyone operating in the natural resources of the Province would be compelled to employ white labor.

"I am a crying shame that industries should come in here, take of our natural wealth and do it with the Oriental labor," declared the Attorney-General with emphasis. He asserted that he had often thought that as Attorney-General it was his duty to make a protest against the present practice of allowing Orientals to become naturalized when they knew nothing of the language or traditions of the country, and he asserted the whole legislation with respect to Orientals had been most unsatisfactory. Should the Oriental be ousted to make room for the disabled and unemployed whites he felt certain the bulk of those displaced would find money to take them back to their native lands. There could be a tremendous amount of money through the propaganda and with all parties united, the great object aimed at would be attained. The Department of Labor, he stated, had been doing its utmost in that direction.

Difficult Problem

Hon. Mr. Manson admitted there are international problems to be faced, but the Government was prepared to do its best. He cited the fact that California has won its case in the highest courts in the United States, and he saw possibility of Canada winning her way with Imperial authorities did she but insist on her right to deal with the question.

"If this menace is not restrained the time will come when the Oriental tide will roll over the mountains into the Pacific regions," prophesied the Attorney-General, who, in an eloquent peroration declared that "we owe it to ourselves, to our nation, to unite to get back to that period forty years ago when the Oriental did not exist here."

Hon. Mr. Manson thereupon seconded the motion of Hon. Mr. Sloan. Speaking to the amendment proposed by Mr. Duncan, Mr. George

S. Hanes, Independent member for North Vancouver, thought that the British Columbia Government had not shown any undue haste in forwarding to Ottawa his resolution against the Orientals, passed at the last session. He had written to Ottawa in February, 1922, and had been informed that such a resolution had not then been received by the Ottawa Government.

Politics

Mr. R. H. Pooley, Conservative member for Esquimalt, figured that too much politics had been injected into the debate. The House last year was unanimous in passing a resolution to be sent to Ottawa, but it seems nothing was done until the member for North Vancouver (Mr. Hanes) had written to Hon. Mackenzie King, and it was later discovered that the resolution passed in November, 1921, was not forwarded to Ottawa until April 30, 1922. If the Minister of Mines was so anxious at that time to acquiesce in the decision of the British Columbia Government, there should have been less delay than had occurred, thought the member for Esquimalt.

Mr. Pooley stated that two years ago he had brought up the question of Japanese naturalization, when he had claimed that ninety-nine per cent of those who come by the courts could neither speak nor write English. These papers had since been "peddled" by the cannery people, and he stated that he suggested that it was time that a record of all papers be ordered and to use the photograph system by which the "peddling" system could be obviated.

Mr. Pooley recalled that at the Nelson Liberal convention held this Spring, where the Oriental question had first become a very close vote, and where the delegates later decided on the vote to exclude the Oriental from all land holdings. He thought that the Minister of Mines had recalled the delegates to the Nelson meeting in respect to the land ownership problem.

"The figures supplied by the Attorney-General during the afternoon had shown just where the rub came in," said Mr. Pooley. "Forty-one per cent in the lumber business; thirty-one per cent in the shingle and sawmills, and fifty-four per cent in the shingle industry. The activity in California had shown that the Southern States had realized a true condition of things and the same applied to British Columbia, where the Orientals were entering the grocery, tailoring and other businesses. The Asiatics in Saanich were encroaching on the legitimate business of the white men, just the same as they had done at Ashcroft and other places."

Hon. Mr. King's Position

Mr. J. W. Jones, South Okanagan, claimed that the situation was a serious one. Hon. J. H. King's attitude was not in line with the members of the Ottawa House coming from British Columbia. Last year he had asked Premier Oliver if he was prepared to raise the question of Oriental exclusion, which he considered was just as important as the one on the freight rates question. The British Columbia members at Ottawa rendered Canada a service when they brought on the debate on the Oriental invasion at the session last Spring. Canada has had enough trouble assimilating certain classes of Europeans without any question of the Oriental. The Japanese excluded white people from acquiring lands except in certain reserved districts. In his own district it had been proved that the Japanese invasion was proving a menace to the legitimate rights of the white people, said Mr. Jones.

Mr. Tom Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, declared the whole fault lay with the white people who would persist in dealing with the Oriental. It was nothing but politics, everything went along lovely until the Asiatic commenced to make inroads into the retail and the fruit industry. It was then that the merchants commenced to "howl." The white man when he wanted gardening, house work or laundry work to be performed, immediately looked to the Asiatic to come to the rescue. Until such time as the question was kept out of politics, so long would the issue remain.

Paying his respects to the Minister of Mines (Hon. William Sloan) Mr. Uphill asked that the restrictions, as regarding mining, be made as strict as it would be impossible for a Japanese or Chinese to secure employment in the mines.

Mr. Bower Questions

Mr. Bower inquired of the Attorney-General whether the act passed in 1921 validating the order-in-council passed by the former government relative to employment of Orientals on Crown contracts had been disallowed by Ottawa.

Mr. Farris, former Attorney-General, replied that Ottawa had disallowed the act. He stated that this Government why the act should not be disallowed, but the Provincial Government had asked that as an action would be tested not to disallow the act then. The case was tried and the Supreme Court held that the act was ultra vires.

"Ottawa took no action," said Mr. Bower.

Mr. Samuel Guthrie, Newcastle, cited the case of an Englishman living in Victoria, with four children, who had been out of work for four years and had done but casual work at a wage as low as $2.50. That man had been ordered out of his home and threatened that he did not move the windows would be taken out.

He declared such happenings indicated the serious unemployment situation and every member on the Liberal side knew they had voted down his motion to deal with the unemployed, but now they all wanted action on the Oriental problem.

Major Richard J. Burde, Alberni, moved the adjournment of the debate.

CURIOUS TREE

The cow-tree is a very curious tree which grows in South America on the broad waters of Venezuela. The sap of this tree resembles milk, both in appearance and taste, and naturalists who have examined it pronounce it wholesome and nutritious and not as very different from rich cream except for a slight balsamic flavor.

The tree frequently attains a height of more than 100 feet and is often entirely smooth and without a limb for a distance of 10 feet from the ground. If a hole is bored or any sort of wound made on this smooth bark the milky-like sap will commence to flow and continue for several days until it coagulates at the mouth of the wound and forms a waxy substance, which prevents further flow.

DECORATE GRAVES OF SAILORS AND SOLDIERS

Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., Asked to Aid War Memorial Fund, Which Needs Help

The monthly meeting of the Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held at the residence of Mrs. N. P. Shaw, Esquimalt Road, on Monday afternoon. In the absence of the Regent, Mrs. Croft, First Vice-Regent Mrs. Nelson presided, a good attendance of members being present.

Reports received showed that all sailors' and soldiers' graves in the Naval cemetery, Esquimalt, had been decorated with crosses of laurel and poppies on Armistice Day; also that the copy of The Illustrated London News sent by the Chapter to the Esquimalt High School was greatly appreciated by the pupils, as was also the Jack Cornwall picture, by the pupils of the Lamson Street School.

The question of the Chapter co-operating in the Community Chest scheme was discussed, and decided in the negative.

Mrs. Riley reported from the Child Hygiene Council asking the Chapter's assistance for the Christmas tree which the Council intends giving in December.

Mrs. Nelson gave a short report from the I.O.D.E. Provincial convention, which she attended recently in Nanaimo, and asked assistance for the British Columbia War Memorial fund, which still lacks $14,444 of the total amount promised, which was $18,888. She also appealed to all to absolutely discontinue the Hearst publications.

WORK OF SAANICH NURSES REPORTED

Board Hears of Activities During October—Child Gains Much Weight at Centre

The work of the Saanich branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses during the month of October was outlined to the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management last evening in the Municipal Hall, Royal Oak, in the report presented by the nursing superintendent, Mrs. C. A. Lucas. The following statistics and facts were given:

Nursing cases carried from September, 7; new cases, 10; babies born, 4; Metropolitan nursing visits, 30; other nursing visits, 179; infant welfare, 6; social service, 18; schools visited by school nurse, 16; schools inspected by visiting nurse, 7; pupils inspected by school nurse, 1,476; hours spent by the nurse in schools, 74; new physical defects found in children, 144; old defects found in children, 45; old defects not improved, 133; children excluded, 4; referred for dental and other treatment to centre, 40; home school visits, 18; other visits in connection with the children, 46; referred to family physician, 6; school talks given, 61; pupils weighed and measured, 768; weight tags given to children, 765; Little Mothers' League classes, 8; home nursing and hygiene classes for women, 11; various meetings addressed, 4.

At the Health Centre Operations, minor, 4; well baby clinics, one of these held at Garden City, 1; out patients treated for cuts, etc., 3; resident patients discharged, 4.

One of the patients discharged was a boy admitted to the centre suffering from malnutrition, being 10 pounds under weight. When discharged he weighed 1½ pounds overweight, having gained 11½ pounds in four weeks.

School Pupils The weighing and measuring of the children in the schools was started on October 14, and a chart is being placed in each classroom, upon which is recorded the weight and measurement of each child during this first month. Each following month of the school year, the pupils will be encouraged to record their own weight under the supervision of the school nurse. New pupils will be weighed and measured upon entrance. The measurement will be taken once during the school year, and a weight tag is given to each child to take home. On this is recorded his weight as the nurse found it and the weight which he should be. Attractive health posters have been placed in all the primary school classrooms in order to help the children understand what the nurse is trying to convey to them in her health talks, and also that they may understand the common rules of and the importance of the "Health Game."

The Board of Management and staff of the Health Centre gratefully acknowledge the following donations: Rev. A. L. B. Macdonald, fruit and vegetables from the Harvest Festival; Mr. J. G. King, fruit and eggs; Garden City Women's Institute, baby basket and accessories; Miss Oldfield, complete baby layette, milk, flowers and confectionery; Mrs. Cummings, clothes; Mrs. Strutt, hot water bottle bags. Old linen is very badly needed by the centre.

CLASSIC COMPOSER SUBJECT OF LECTURE
Mr. Edward Parsons Gives Address on Mendelssohn, Illustrated With Musical Compositions

"The Life of Mendelssohn" was the subject of Mr. Edward Parsons' very interesting address given last evening at Emmanuel Baptist Church before a large audience. The proceeds of the lecture are for the new organ fund, the instrument, which formerly belonged to St. James' Church, James Bay, having only recently been installed in Emmanuel Church. Various phases of Mendelssohn's compositions were illustrated in the course of the evening, the choir, under the leadership of Mr. Fred Parfitt, singing two part songs, "On the Sea" and "Departure," also "I Waited for the Lord." Mrs. Edward Parsons gave very beautiful renderings of "The First Violin," "Will Sing of Thy Mercies, O Lord" (St. Paul), and Mr. Parsons, who is the accomplished organist of the Metropolitan Methodist Church, gave examples of the master's work by playing "War March of the Priests" and the Andante from the Violin Concerto, concluding by giving part of the Hallelujah Sonata.

Mr. Parsons lecture was a resume of the life and works of Mendelssohn, the former notable for his wonderful productivity, as the composer had begun to write when thirteen, and died at the age of thirty-eight. This meant that in the short period of twenty-five years he had produced the vast collection of works which have been left to posterity. Indicating the early maturity of Mendelssohn's musical genius, Mr. Parsons stated that the author had been only seventeen when he wrote the overture to Midsummer Night's Dream.

The chairman was Rev. Wm. Stevenson, and the very appreciative vote of thanks to the lecturer was moved by Mayor Marchant, seconded by Mr. James Parfitt.

TEE, FAIRWAY, AND GREEN

The Year's Best Golf
The best golf played in America this year—what was it, where and by who?
Now we'll have a surprise!
The best golf played in this present season was the driving of the British team of amateurs who came here for the international matches in August, and most of whom took part in the American national amateur championship at Brookline in September.

Analysis of the game are wont to argue that driving is golf's easiest shot and the one of perhaps the least importance in finished playing. I hold a different view. Every player knows that the most satisfying shot in the game is the long, floating, far-reaching, straight drive, and the drive is, in fact, the most satisfying even if it isn't so straight as long as it goes far. I know of no other shot of more real consequence in championship play than the placed and held tee shot. I mean the shot from the tee that is put exactly where you want it and made to stay right there.

(It is peculiarly fitting, therefore, that the best playing the game turned up during the present season was the driving of the British invaders. And there is no reason to believe that the game—Vardon among others—had very keenly criticized English players for what he termed "a craze for long tee shots.")

The driving abilities of the British not only constituted the best golf of the season, but their drives were one of the most beautiful golf I have ever beheld. There are several kinds of good drives, but there is but one perfect golf drive. Some tee shots scream along the ground, get a long roll and attain distance. The beautiful, masterly-executed tee shot leaves the tee with a whir, shoots straight for the air—going not too high—then seems fairly to float. The ball literally hangs in the air. You have seen such drives; perhaps you make them now and then. The British players of whom I speak were masters of the perfect rhythm and the exact control that enabled them to so master the tee shot during all their play here.

The Britisher hits hard. He hits with a mighty wallop. None of the easy taps for him. Those who have seen Abe Mitchell send a 300-yarder screaming from the tee know exactly what I mean in saying the English star hits hard. They have a peculiar knack of hard hitting. The small players, like Roger Wethered, hit just as hard as Mitchell. For instance, at the second tee at Brookline, with the green some 300 yards up a hill, and the fairway curving somewhat to the left, I made up my mind to put everything I had into my tee shot. I don't often press, but I pressed here. Wethered, paired with me, must have noticed it. I got some 240 yards, my ball coming to rest just above the bunker to the left of the fairway. Wethered stepped up and with seeming ease—and almost to my amazement—drove this second Brookline green.

The reason I think these exhibitions we had of British driving were the best playing of the year is due to the fact that the British player, somehow, masters the art of hitting hard without hitting hard. That seems to be a jumbled statement, but what I mean is that the Britisher knows how to execute golf's best shot without seeming to over-exert himself. There are several kinds of rhythm, which, of course, is everything.

The British player takes time to study his drive; most of us in the United States have time only to play it.

WEDNESDAY SOCCER

Four Wednesday League teams will be in action today. Fitz's will meet Wellers at the Royal Athletic Park, while the Tommies will be at home to the Bays. There will be no weight restrictions in the Intermediate Boys' Divisions this year, a motion being passed to that effect last night.
Only one entry was received in the Intermediate Girls' Division, this being a new departure. Very few of the churches were prepared at such short notice to organize teams in this division, so it was decided to carry on with the Senior and Junior Girls' Leagues.

Prospects Rosy
Prospects are bright for a most successful season. Six teams will be over from the Mainland in March to play off with the local winners. This should prove to be the event of the season in local basketball circles.

Play will probably commence in about two weeks time and the schedule will continue until March.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday nights will likely be used for league matches, as usual.

SAYS INTEREST ONLY LUKEWARM

London Writer Expresses the Opinion That International Soccer in Old Country Is Becoming Farical

COUNTRIES HAVE NOT EQUAL PRIVILEGES

Irish Selectors Are Meeting With Difficulties in Securing Release of Players Wanted by Different Clubs

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 14.—The international soccer tournament threatens to become farical, according to a sporting writer in The Daily News. He says that for years Ireland and Wales have been agitating for Saturday dates for their matches with England, and they were granted a concession in that direction at the last international board meeting. To get Saturday dates they had to promise not to approach any players with British clubs before obtaining the permission of the clubs concerned, and apparently they were content to do that. The result, however, cannot be described as satisfactory.

The Irish selectors have met with several refusals. Liverpool, because of injuries to players, intimated that the club could not spare its Irish players, Hamilton, of Manchester City, begged off after being chosen, and Emerson, of Burnley, and McCracken, of the Crystal Palace, also had to refuse to play for Ireland at West Bromwich. Burnley has several injured players, and as the English selectors have called upon Watson, Burnley's captain and left half-back, to act as reserve, the club's Lancashire club officials felt that they could not also spare Emerson from their important league match against their local rivals, Blackburn Rovers. The Crystal Palace Club is doing badly and could hardly be expected to let its best half-back off.

Thus Ireland has been put in the position of having to make a third choice for right half-back and get another left back.

A victory for England under such circumstances could be no great accomplishment. The Daily News writer says, and the International Championship is robbed of much interest as the result. In fact, he says it is farcical to describe it as a championship unless all the countries concerned can claim the players they consider the best in which country they are playing.

It may seem unkind on the part of the clubs not to release Irish players, but in these days of fierce competition, when the absence of a noted player may mean the loss of two points, and probably lead also to serious consequences for the club, the Irish and Welsh authorities are unwise in holding out for Saturday dates. The financial side is an important one, of course, but that might be overcome by the "predominant partners" agreeing to pool all receipts in the international games. The Daily News correspondent is strongly of the opinion that only the English vs. Scottish match should be played on a Saturday.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Really and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for its effectiveness.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membrane, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Clubs would not object to players being called upon for midweek matches, and the Irish and the Welsh would then be able to command their best players and there would be real championship matches. So long as England can force all players who are chosen to play for them, and deny the two countries named the same privilege, public interest in the international in England will be only lukewarm.

Carr, of Middlebrough, will be unable to play for England this season. This is regretted generally, for Carr is looked upon as the best outside right in England at the present time, and would have gained the distinction of having played for his country in two positions, for he figured at inside right against the Irish at Belfast in 1920. Mercer, of Sheffield United, chosen to take his place, is regarded as a very good substitute.

SPORTSMEN APPEAR BEFORE THE BOARD

ASK CHANGE IN DEER SEASON AND SEPARATE FUND

State Outlaw Hunters Handicapping Associations—Private Game Preserves Attacked

Sportsmen of Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland appeared before the Game Conservation Board last night and urged amendments to existing legislation that would relieve the present friction between farmers and hunters and discourage the sale by farmers of hunting privileges.

The arguments of the sportsmen were presented by Mr. E. Nelson, of the British Columbia Hunters' Association; J. A. Cummings, representing several hunting and angling associations of the Lower Mainland; and Mr. James Dakers, representing Vancouver Island hunters.

Mr. Nelson recommended that a change in the game regulations be made so that the deer and blue grouse seasons would commence simultaneously. He also urged that the revenues from gun and fishing licenses and from game regulation fines should be put in a special fund to the account of the Game Board, and that it should not be grouped with Provincial police funds. The game associations would then insist on a complete statement showing just how the game board is doing, and he said that a petition signed by practically every hunter in British Columbia would be submitted to the Legislature if necessary.

"Outlaw" Cause Trouble
Mr. Nelson told of the difficulties of the hunters' associations in maintaining a high standard of ethics and keeping on friendly terms with the farmers when there were thousands of unlicensed hunters operating without any control whatever.

The controversy now raging between Lower Mainland municipalities and the hunters regarding Sunday shooting was dealt with at considerable length. The hunters' spokesmen were strongly opposed to the restrictive measures being put into effect in municipalities such as Richmond, and they pointed out that they were handicapped by the fact that their membership was limited.

"We are trying our best to co-operate with the farmers, but there are only 400 of us, and there are about 14,000 hunters," running wild," declared Mr. Nelson. "These outlaws are the ones who tear down fences, do the wild shooting, tell the farmers to go to the devil, and get us all into disrepute. It's an uphill battle and we are harassed on every side."

Mr. Nelson said that if Sunday shooting was prohibited in the area surrounding Vancouver and adjacent cities, about 8,000 hunters would be deprived of doing any hunting at all, and there would be a corresponding reduction in the number of licenses purchased.

He objected to the attitude of farmers on Sea Island, who were endeavoring to keep hunters away from the shore and had put up signs warning hunters to keep off public roads.

"If the farmers won't let us go into these places we'll demand a preserve, and that will stop hunting all together," he threatened.

Chairman M. B. Jackson reminded him that the hunters would have to show sufficient reason for creation of such a preserve.

Farmers Are Defended
Several members of the Legislature who were present at last night's session defended the farmers, saying that they had a real grievance against some hunters, although members of associations were probably all right.

Mr. Dakers drew the Board's attention to the erection of signs on Sidney Spit, prohibiting hunting. He said that Sidney Spit was tidal land, and therefore anybody's property, and that the Sidney Island Syndicate, which had erected the signs, had no authority for doing so. He referred to similar signs in Saanich and objected to the action of farmers in selling hunting privileges to individuals, at the same time barring others from their property.

"Doesn't such a practice encourage the farmers to feed and breed game birds to everybody's ultimate benefit?" asked Mr. Jackson.

"It's opposed to the principle that the Province's game shall not be sold for profit," replied Mr. Dakers. "It is a step backwards toward the old English system of vast private game preserves," said Mr. Cummings. "It means the man in the street gets nothing."

Mr. Dakers said the time was coming when the Trespass Act would be amended to benefit the majority of the people rather than the land owners as a class.

"You are getting now to the question as to whether private ownership of property shall be abolished," said Mr. Jackson. "It becomes a question as to whether we are to have a continuance of democratic government or a return to feudalism, and the Government is certainly not ready to consider any such proposal as that."

Property Rights Assailed
Mr. Dakers and Mr. Cummings held that no such question was involved, but that they were opposed to any system that would set aside vast tracts of land wherein hunting was permitted to only a selected few.

"If carried to the extreme, your proposal would break down the traditional assumption that an Englishman's home is his castle," said Mr. Jackson.

"That may be so in England, but not here," retorted Mr. Dakers. Representatives from up-land points maintained that the farmers should have just as much authority in controlling trespassers on their fields as city dwellers had in respect to their back yards or front porches.

Mr. Cummings suggested an amendment to the Trespass Act which would enable hunters to enter all farm property, but hold them liable for damage done. He said that if the Act as it stood now was enforced, ten thousand hunters would have been arrested in and about Vancouver this season, because they all entered forbidden lands where crops were growing.

He objected to the creation of a private game preserve by Mr. Pat Burns, of Vancouver, and his associates. He said the property was of no use for anything but game, and yet the public was prohibited from shooting on it. Use of metal licenses badges by hunters was endorsed.

Creation of a game preserve in the Lower Mainland was urged, and during afternoon session Mr. John P. Babcock, deputy commissioner of fisheries, voiced a plea for the establishment of a vast game preserve in the lake region of the Cariboo district, north of Hazelton.

The Board will meet again this morning at 10 o'clock.

CRICKET CLUB FOR SEATTLE IS MOOTED

Organization of a cricket club in Seattle is being considered. Only informal talks have been had on the subject by a number of Britishers living there, and they want to get in touch with everyone who is interested. A meeting will then be called some time after Thanksgiving.

According to Mr. Taylor, there are a number of former Oxford and Cambridge players there who want to play.

WOMEN MORE CAUTIOUS, CLAIMS MR. BONAR LAW

Quite Competent to Take Part in Political Life, He Tells Audience—Expects Working Majority

GLASGOW, Nov. 14.—Prime Minister Bonar Law told an audience of his women constituents today that the women are quite competent to take part in politics.

"Women," he said, "are a little more cautious than men, a little less inclined to make rash experiments and that was an element which would add strength to the constitution of a country like Britain."

The Prime Minister predicted the Conservatives would receive a working majority in the House of Commons upon which they could depend.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The Swabian-Aid Society has donated twenty-five million marks for the relief of needy German journalists. This announcement is contained in a despatch from the German minister at Bern.

London News Notes

By E. Montclairmont

The one subject of conversation is the change of ministries, and I hear many regrets from Canadians that Col. Amery has resigned himself so popular at the Colonial office, is not returning there, though his many friends are naturally pleased at the Admiralty appointment.

Col. Amery was one of the guests of honor at the Nelson Day dinner held by the Navy League at the Lyceum Club, when he paid a sincere tribute to the work done by his predecessor, Lord Lee of Fareham. Col. Williams, a Canadian guest, responded to the toast of the Navy League.

It seems rather a pity that someone does not arrange a sort of general post whereby outgoing ministers might step into the houses of the incoming ones. Lord and Lady Lee of Fareham are busy having their mansions moved from the Admiralty house, but as their house in Kensington Palace gardens is not yet ready for occupation, they will probably stay for a little while with Lord and Lady Rosemount.

The only official residence that will be no trouble to leave is Chequers, the country home of the Prime Minister, given to the Nation by Lord Lee of Fareham, and his associates. It is a beautiful house, and the contents must always remain undisturbed. Catalogues were made and photographs taken to ensure that everything would be kept in its proper place, and a charge of Ministry entails no more complicated leaving-taking than a removal of personal belongings.

Mrs. E. B. Batters, M.P. of Winnipeg, who calls for Canada next week, has been an interested spectator of the political upheaval over here in the intervals of attending the entertainment given in her honour by the Dowager Lady Jersey, President of the Victoria League, Mr. Leonard Rees, editor of The Sunday Times, Miss Larkin, Lady Rhonda, Miss Ogilvie, and Mrs. W. G. Gwynne.

Today the United Empire Circle of the Lyceum Club is giving a reception for Mrs. Rogers, when she will speak on "The Women Canada Wants."

Women are rapidly taking a more intelligent interest in politics over here and this interest is not by any means confined to the members of the wealthier classes.

The Hon. Ethel Akers-Douglas, who is still carrying on her interesting work while in the House of Commons, is in political matters from a non-party standpoint, tells me that she finds an extraordinary interest among the working-class women, once they are made to understand the fact that politics affect the details of their home life.

Mr. Bonar Law has thought it worth his while to arrange to address the Franchise League, at the Lyceum Club, on November 16, and no less than 28 women are expected to attend. The women are expected to be present in large numbers. Among them are several names well known in Canada, such as Miss Helen Fraser, whose able lectures during the war are still remembered. Mrs. Ogilvie Gordon, Mrs. W. G. Gwynne, Vaughan, and Mrs. Oliver Strachey.

In the matter of politics women appear to be as widely divided as the men. Some are in favor of the Liberalism on Coalition Unionist (Lady Astor), seven Labor, four Coalition Liberals, one Unionist, three Independents and one Conservative. One woman, who used to be a Liberal, has from the stage is credited with a wish to transfer her activities to the House of Commons, but so far I have not heard of her doing so.

Her persistence on her knowledge of domestic affairs as an equipment for parliamentary success.

Appropos of actresses, I hear that the number of "tearful women" is self-proclaimed that proudly calls itself "The profession." The profession has been slightly diminished by the opening of a restaurant in Archer Street.

The profession is not very obvious till one learns that the place is entirely run by members of the profession who have given up the theatre in order to devote themselves to theatrical management. The restaurant has only been in existence eight months. It was founded by the manager of a touring company; all the waitresses are actresses, several of the leading ladies in the company. The business is such a success that they have had to open new rooms, but I wouldn't like to be the manager. The success has refused dozens of pathetic appeals each week from men and women who once earned £30 a week and who are now glad to do menial work.

Restaurant-keeping seems fashionable among the "new poor." The latest tea-shop that has opened in Chelsea is run by Russian waitresses, who are glad to leave the Russian costume, and though I hesitate to give any more space to this subject without warrant, I can give any inquiring reader the story of many of the London above London where they can get cheerful meals in more attractive surroundings than the uninspiring Lyons or A.B.C.

NATURAL HISTORY STUDY

Meeting of Local Organisation Held With Interesting Subjects—Large Attendance

The regular meeting of the Natural History Society was held in the Pemberton Building on Monday. There was a large attendance and two new members were reported with further proposals for membership.

Interesting Paper
The paper of the evening was a delightful description of the flora and fauna of Rhodesia. The paper was prepared by Mr. H. McKennie and read by the president. The subject was dealt with in a scientific and amusing way, holding the audience for an hour. Mr. McKennie showed very interesting photographs in connection with the paper, including some of the grave of Cecil Rhodes, the founder of the country.

Mr. Hamilton stated that he had been in South Africa in 1917 and would be pleased to let the society have some notes from his diary.

A very hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. McKennie, and after considerable discussion on various topics the meeting adjourned.

Muscular Activity
At question time it was asked whether a fish could show muscular activity after its head and entrails had been removed. And whether the birds of this vicinity would eat acorns whole.

Pigeons were reported to be migrating in search of food, being seen at Colwood, in one instance, and then at Denman Island, in large numbers.

Among the donations to the society was a small volume gotten out by some High School boys who are members, and who have among themselves formed a cosmological society. A vote of thanks was tendered the boys, with good wishes for the success of their enterprise.

Specimens Studied
A specimen of Douglas fir, which had been eaten out between the bark and the centre by ants, was discussed. It was brought in from Langford. A diamond drill core, consisting of a piece of diolite, a granitoid rock composed mainly of hornblende and feldspar; also a piece of hornblende, a copper sulphide, were also before the meeting.

Photographs of the first effort to save the old Vancouver Island lighthouse were shown. These were taken at Patricia Bay by Mrs. Reamont Bogg. The society will be guests of Mrs. Bogg on Saturday, November 18, to be shown all about the lighthouse.

Cormorants swim with such rapidity that fish can hardly escape them.

WARD FIVE MEETING ENDORSES CANDIDATE

Mr. Robinson Selected for Councilship—Race and Trustee Questions Left Over

Mr. George Robinson was chosen unanimously as a councillor candidate for Ward Five by the Ward Five Ratepayers' Association last evening in a meeting which took the seating accommodation of the room in the Royal Oak School in which it was held.

When nominations were called for, only the name of Mr. Robinson, the president of the association, was put forward. After being declared the association's candidate, he said that he would make no pre-election promises.

When the question of the reeve was brought up and ex-Councillor Eric Kingwell, announced candidate for that office, was asked to speak, he said that as Reeve Watson had not yet stated whether he would be in the field again, and as the Councillor McWilliam, who was not present, had declared his intention of running, it would not be fair to take a vote on the matter at that meeting. The gathering agreed with him. Reeve Watson was present.

Mr. J. Cheatham, candidate for school trustee, and Mr. J. O'Connell, who said that he was not yet sure whether he would be in the field, spoke, but the meeting did not endorse anyone for a position on the School Board.

Officers Elected
The following officers for the year were elected by the association: President, Mr. J. W. Pimlott; Vice-president, Mr. W. E. Thorpe; Secretary-treasurer, Mr. S. A. Vantricht.

The meeting passed a standing vote of condolence to Mrs. Pim, wife of the late councillor for the ward, who died several months ago.

With respect to the discussing of Ward Six the question of a water system for irrigating purposes in the district, Mr. Robinson stated that he had twice taken up the matter in the outer ward and, though a promise to hold a meeting had been made, this promise had not yet been carried out.

Considerable discussion took place as to whether members of the association should support candidates endorsed by the organization, even if the members personally did not favor them. No decision was arrived at in the matter, and the meeting proceeded to select a councillor candidate.

Reeve Watson was asked to speak. He first paid a tribute to the late Councillor Pim. He complimented the meeting upon having chosen a man such as Mr. Robinson, who had had previous municipal experience.

In answer to a request for information, the Reeve stated that while the water board bill which was to go before the Legislature, there was every safeguard for Saanich, which would not come under the administration of a water board until the municipality had voted to do so. Provision was being made to prevent the cost of water being any higher than at present.

"I am prepared, at present at least, to give a water board my wholehearted support," said the Reeve. As far as the Greater Victoria scheme was concerned, declared Reeve Watson, he was opposed to it at present, but could see it coming in ten, fifteen or twenty years. With conditions as they were, he would oppose Saanich's entrance into any amalgamation, but when they had improved it would probably be in the interests of Saanich to take part.

Mr. Kingwell said that he was a candidate for the reeve, and that he maintained his policy set forth during his campaign last year, a policy of efficiency with economy. Mr. Cheatham, outlining his policy as trustee candidate, said that he

BEST CARGO YET BROUGHT TO PORT

JEFFERSON'S 900 TONS SETS
RECORD FOR LINE

Company Building Up Business for Self and Port—Much of Freight
Transhipped Here East

Japanese oranges are believed to form the greater part of the 900-ton cargo coming in for this port on the Admiral Oriental liner President Jefferson, due next Tuesday morning. But apart from the tonnage itself, the particulars have yet reached the local office of the Pacific Steamship Company concerning the ship.

Great satisfaction is expressed by Mr. W. M. Allan, general agent for the line here, over the amount of the Jefferson's local freight. It is by long odds the best cargo ever brought to Victoria by any ship of the line, and the best moreover, in quite a few days, to be landed here by any vessel whatever. Not since the busy year of the war and immediately after that time, when ship-owners were patronizing the trans-Pacific routes rather than the dangerous Suez Canal and Mediterranean trade channels, has freight in such volume been coming to the port of Victoria.

The Admiral Line, since the establishment of its Oriental service, has been building up business not only for itself but for Victoria as well, for much of the local freight is through cargo, transhipped here to points in Eastern Canada, and the United States, and every ton of cargo landed here brings with it dollars and cents that stay behind when the ton goes. More and more of this kind of movement is being developed by the company with every sailing, in silk and silk goods, tea, toys, rice, holly huts and all the varied products of the Far East.

SS. Pittsburgh Standing By Distressed Italian Steamer on Atlantic

BAR HARBOR, Maine, Nov. 14.—A radiogram received here early today said that the White Star liner Pittsburgh, bound from New York for Bremen, was standing by and giving all necessary assistance to the Italian steamship Monte Grappa, which had broadcast S.O.S. signals a few hours before.

According to wireless messages flashed over 1,000 miles on the Atlantic and intercepted here, the Monte Grappa was listing to port in heavy seas.

Latest radio communications said that the Pittsburgh was "able to handle the situation, and no further help" was required.

SKIPPERS RESIGNS

Capt. W. Larmour, formerly master of the C. G. M. ship Canadian Britisher, has left the government service to engage in private business. He has moved to Tacoma where he will make his headquarters as representative for the American Continent of the Lincoln Spinning Mills Company, of Australia.

DRY NAVY DEFEAT

DETROIT, Nov. 13.—The federal prohibition "navy" operating on the Detroit River, suffered a reverse today when United States Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd handed down an opinion that seizure of motor boats suspected of carrying liquor from Canada was illegal, unless the liquor agents first obtained a search warrant.

Barkentine S. F. Tolmie Returning Home With Coal for Golden Gate

With a cargo of coal from New-Castle, N.S.W., the barkentine Simon F. Tolmie is now on her second homeward voyage. The vessel sailed from the Australian port on the first day of November, bound for San Francisco. After discharging at the latter port, it is expected that she will come up to British Columbia to load for another outward trip. She is due in these waters in early January.

Swedish Ship Loading Lumber for Australia At Alberni; Others Due

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 14.—The SS. Lyngren, which has been loading lumber for Australia at the export wharf of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Co., Ltd., for the past week, will leave on Wednesday afternoon. Owing to lack of cargo space it is possible she may not be able to take all the lumber which it had been planned to ship by her, but as three other boats are expected within the next month, other arrangements can easily be made.

FERRY TENDERS ARE IN HANDS OF C.P.R.

Announcement Expected at End of month that the C.P.R. will take over the operation of the ferry tenders on the route between Alberni and Victoria.

Tenders for construction of the proposed Canadian Pacific automobile ferry route between Victoria and the vicinity of Sidney have been submitted to the company and have gone forward to the East. It is expected that announcement of the award of the contract will be made about the first of December.

The vessel, it is believed, will cost about $200,000. She will have to be ready by the month of May, as the company proposes to inaugurate the service on May 15.

Prince Rupert shipbuilders are competing with Victoria and Vancouver yards for the order. Mr. J. H. Pillsbury, manager of the Canadian National Railway drydock and ship repair plant at the northern port, was in the city recently, and while here conferred with the B. C. Coast Service officials with the intention of submitting figures and plans. Mr. Pillsbury was hopeful of landing the job for Prince Rupert.

Empress of Asia Bound
In From Yokohama With
First Japanese Oranges

The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, Capt. Douglas, is due in on Monday morning. She left Yokohama Saturday with 580 passengers and a big cargo. Included in the cargo are 700 tons of Japanese oranges, the first of the season to cross the Pacific. Some proportion of these oranges will probably be transhipped back to Victoria, from Vancouver, where the Empress lands all her freight. In addition to the fruit the ship has other perishables, general cargo, and a considerable consignment of silk.

WEST COAST FISH

With a cargo of fish and ore from the West Coast, the Teas, Capt. R. C. Bennett, of the Canadian Pacific B. C. Coast Service, reached port yesterday afternoon. The ore is from Tacoma and the canned salmon for Vancouver. The vessel left for Puget Sound last night and will make the Burrard Inlet call on the return trip.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 14.—The shipping dockworkers' strike in Australia has been effectively ended by a court order. Thirty vessels are now at work in the harbor, and the dockworkers are returning to their jobs. The men's representatives assert that before the strikers return to work they must receive a guarantee that there will be no prosecutions in England when they arrive there. The men have gone on strike for higher wages.

Advices from Auckland, N.Z., are to the effect that 30 vessels are idle there owing to a coastal strike. It is possible that a light cruiser will be used to transport stranded passengers to Wellington.

The 150 members of the Orville's crew were ordered by the court to return to the ship and resume their duties there. The strikers have gone back to work, and the company expects the remainder of the crew to return.

CAPITOL It's "Skipper" Theodore Roberts again after a lapse of forty years! It isn't altogether a novelty for Theodore Roberts to play the role of a schooner captain as he does in Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture, "The Man Who Saw Tomorrow," since he was a schooner master in real life in the early eighties. His father didn't want him to be an actor and bought him a vessel so that he could follow the sea instead. Lumber, freight, all kinds of things were taken from California ports to California ports and the work was hard. The then youthful Theophas decided he had enough after two years and went back to acting, at which he has remained ever since. Now he has renewed his acquaintance with marlines, spikes, belaying pins, ropes and rigging, rattles and hatches, as Captain Morgan Prince, a witty, practical English leader in the South Sea, for "The Man Who Saw Tomorrow." Paramount picture in which Thomas Meighan is star, and which will be seen at the Capitol Theatre for the rest of this week. "I don't mind being it on the screen," says Mr. Roberts, "but as for the real thing—never again! Let's face it, I play opposite Mr. Meighan in the Paramount picture. Others in the cast include Eva Novak, Alec Francis, June Elvidge, Laurence Wheat, Albert Roscoe and John Milner.

DOMINION With Mae Murray in the THEATRE stellar role of "Broadway Rose," showing at the Dominion Theatre all this week, the Dominion picture fans will see the beautiful Metro star in an elaborate production which is said to surpass even "Peacock Alley" and "Fascination." As in the latter pictures Mae Murray is provided with a role which gives prominence to her ability as a dancer and affords opportunity for striking costumes in great profusion. The story concerns a country girl who, by her extraordinary ability as a dancer, becomes the idol of Broadway. The help of an aristocratic Fifth Avenue family falls in love with her, urges her to marry him and, seeking only happiness with the man she loves, Rosalie consents. To avoid an open rupture with his family the marriage is kept secret, but the discovery of the situation by the father precipitates a crisis which almost wrecks Violet's life. "Broadway Rose" is a Tiffany production directed by Metro. The story and scenario were written by Edmund Cosentino, the photoplay is by Oliver T. Marsh and the art settings are by Charles Cadwalder.

COLUMBIA Closing a highly successful run, "Perjury," the William Fox super-special presenting William Farnum in a remarkable emotional role, will be shown for the last time at the Columbia Theatre tonight. This production has created a sensation here comparable to that which it enjoyed during its opening run on Broadway, New York.

ROYAL "The next accomplishment of science will be to prolong life, and as soon as some qualified scientist wants to begin work he can start on me." This is the brave and optimistic sentiment of Edna Wallace Hopper, who is appearing at the Royal Victoria all this week in person. I am so enthused over pleasant surprises that I have done for me, that I believe it possible for science to go further. Miss Hopper has undergone a difficult dental operation which has returned the freshness and bloom of youth to her face. On Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Miss Hopper will give a special matinee for ladies only at which she will demonstrate the proper way to take a bath, also different hints on the best way to keep one's hair young. The sea and the air were utilized by Allen Hollubar in the filming of his production of "Hurricane's Gal," the Dorothy Phillips-Fox National attraction now playing at the Royal Victoria Theatre. Many of the outdoor scenes were taken on a big three-masted schooner which was a German wireless information ship during the war. A destroyer and a hydroplane also take part in the stirring action much of which was photographed from the air by Mr. Hollubar. Miss Phillips' role is one of the most emotional she has ever played. Appearing in her support are Robert Ellis, Wallace Reid, James O. Barrow, Gertrude Astor, William Fong, Frances Raymond and Jack Donovan.

PLAYHOUSE Those who last night had the opportunity of witnessing the dress rehearsal of the new show No. 8, "The Balkan Princess," are unanimous in declaring that it will be as popular as any of Mr. Hincks' previous successes. The title alone is enough to assure the patronage of this talented and progressive company that they are in for a gamut of beautiful and useful music, while the comedy delivered by Bob Webb and Peggy Lewis is of an order that ought to leave the audience gurgling for many a day. Marie Hale has never been better, and his singing will be a real treat. Miss Eva Hart has a delightful role, and her solo and her duets with Marie Hale will probably be the best liked samples of any of her various successes. There are dances galore, real snappy dances with the dancers enjoying them every bit as much as anybody else, and with a background of Stewart Clark's scenery which is in every respect up to standard, the success of the production is assured.

VALENTINO WILL BE SEEN AT DOMINION MONDAY AS RAJAH

Next week's attraction at the Dominion should prove a delight and a surprise for Rudolph Valentino fans, where he is announced to appear in his forthcoming production, "The Young Rajah." It is a far bigger picture than "The Sheik," and is just the type of production suited to Valentino's abilities. You've seen him as the hot-blooded Arabian as the gallant and dashing tesorero of sunny Spain. Now—he's even more fascinating as the young East Indian, brought up in America in ignorance of his real parentage. It is a powerful story of two continents, in strong contrast. "The Young Rajah" will play at the Dominion Theatre all next week, commencing on Monday.

The London Stage

By E. Moutisambert

Now that Mr. Dennis Eadie is planning to build a theatre to be ready by November of next year, one hopes that he will provide a foyer, the only advantage that French theatres possess over the more comfortable English houses if one excepts the "Theatre des Champs Elysees" in the Avenue de Montaigne. Mr. Eadie's theatre will be called the Crown Theatre, and will be just opposite the Drury Lane.

If there were foies in London long suffering audiences could take their revenge on the countless Adams who have trodden on their toes on their way out to smoke a cigarette and loiter near the bar between the acts while their Elms sit solitary, cheered by custom from rising to chat with their dearest friends, or enemies, four rows away.

Everyone is wishing more power to Mr. Eadie's elbow, for it is rumored the new theatre is to have certain unbelievably good features, even to free programmes and refreshments at ordinary retail prices.

I went into Drury Lane last night to see pretty Miss Margaret Hammerman again in that wonderful production of Decameron Nights. The tale, of course, is frankly Boccaccian, and every girl would like her mother to go. What a stir those hundred tales must have made among the holy nuns who were given the Boccaccio's manuscript, owing, I believe, to a fourteenth century strike among the usual scribes, and yet we think that strikes are a new development of the labor union. Prominent among the planists was Miss Marie North, who gave a brilliant rendering of Liszt's "Fifth Hungarian Rhapsody," her execution of the difficult florid passages being excellent. Miss Wilhelmina Stewart displayed good style and admirable execution in the first movement of Beethoven's "Sonata, Pathetique." The Misses Evelyn Wheeler, Wilfred McDonald, Gwendolyn Winsby, Flora Allan, Ella Beveridge, Edna Pentz, Rowena Pentz, Dorothy conversational comedy, exquisitely played by the French actors and their comrades, but it was lost in the vast Coliseum, and that the only excuse one can offer for the deplorable discourtesy to these talented French visitors.

The students of the Dominion Academy of Music gave a very successful recital on Friday evening before a large and enthusiastic audience. A long and varied programme was contributed. The general standard of excellence was high. Miss Ellen Bridge, who possesses a beautiful mezzo-soprano voice, proved herself a favorite in her two songs, "Amour Fidele" (Teima), Miss Mildred Gimson, "Dance of Living Flowers" (Power), Miss Dorothy Bishop, "Valse Caprice" (Grieg), Miss Edna Pentz, song, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" (Handel), Miss Ellen Bridge, pianoforte solo, "Sonata, C minor" (first movement), (Beethoven), Miss W. Stewart, pianoforte duet, "Polonaise" (D'Ouville), Miss Marjorie Hulke and Madame

It must be confessed that none of the newcomers are epoch-making. "Glamour," the new play at the Apollo, which started its life in the provinces with another title, "The Heart of Doris," is the sort of play producers inevitably think is the sort of thing the public likes and are as inevitably surprised when they find they don't.

I think the chief attraction of the play, in spite of Mr. Aubrey Smith's perennial charm, is Mr. Holman Clark, who acts the kindly, philosophic family friend with the cheerful good humor and good sense flavored with a suspicion of cynicism which distinguished his well-remembered work in Somerset Maugham's play, "The Circle." The heroine has been advertised as an American and he is an English actress who spends all her time in America, where, however, she has been able to avoid the national accent. A number of well-known people were present on the first night at the Apollo, among them Princess Christian and Princess Helena Victoria, who have both been going about a great deal just now.

The Comedie Francaise Every admirer of French art felt heartily ashamed at the egregious behavior of certain ignorant people in the gallery of the Coliseum who gazed the admirable performance of Mademoiselle Marie Leonie in Mon-clous de Flair's one-act comedy, "Venise."

The incident really emphasizes the mistake into which theatrical managers have fallen lately of levelling down or up, whichever one prefers, all theatres to a deplorable similarity. The Coliseum is an excellent place of entertainment devoted to shows of a certain sort. Then why bring over the members of a company like that of the Theatre Francaise and expect them to be appreciated by an audience which obviously does not understand French and expects and is entitled to enjoy a very different class of play. "Venise" is a light little Bishop, Marjorie Hulke, Albertine Miller, Mona McDonald, Margaret Gower and Dorothy Cox gave their respective pianoforte solos with great skill to themselves and their instructress. The duet, "Rendezvous" by the Misses Evelyn and Louella Harper, was much appreciated. Master Neville Shanks gained a well-deserved encore for his clever pianoforte solo, and Eleanor Pentz, Rachel Essler and Master Jack Mason made a very creditable first appearance. The programme followed: Pianoforte duet, "Valse" (Klindworth), Eleanor Pentz and Madame Webb; "Romance" (Klindworth), Jack and Phyllis Mason; pianoforte solos, "The Piper" (Mathilde Ellbro), Rachel Essler; "Rondo" (Kubla), Dorothy Cox; "Tinkling Bells" (L.
